Wine Day in Rioja - Haro

This wine tour takes place in Haro, a town in one of Spain's famous wine region, Rioja. This tour is perfect for enthusiasts who want to see the magic of wine and how it is made. The harvesting of wine in the Rioja has an ancient lineage with origins dating back to the Phoenicians and the Celtiberians. The earliest written evidence of the existence of the grape in Rioja dates to 873. What has characterized Haro as Rioja capital are its natural conditions, whose first expression is its wines and men who are oriented to a total oenological operation; producing grapes, making wine, maturing and bottling.

The day will begin with two guided visit (in English) at Rioja's top cellars, both followed by a wine tasting. All winery visits are quite extensive and include a full tour of the premises, complete explanations of how their wines are made.

After the wine tours you will enjoy a gourmet meal at a restaurant in Haro with a menu consisting of a three course meal, homemade dessert, Rioja wine, coffee and a liquor.
